

Park Mammoth Resort and Legacy Quest Outdoors Forge Partnership to Build Custom Homesteads

Park City, KY – Secluded within the 2,000-acre destination style resort of Park Mammoth Resort, twenty-five acres have been set aside to create Cedar Pointe, a second home community for shooting sports and golf enthusiasts and their families desiring a sporting lifestyle. Legacy Quest Outdoors brings their industry leading expertise in building design and outdoor themeing, with the use of authentic reclaimed wood materials to create eighteen individual customized cabins on prime three-quarter acres sites. Homes will range from 3,500 square feet down to 850. The Legacy Quest Outdoors partnership with Park

Mammoth Resort is anchored by blending homes into the resorts natural beauty, which is ideal for family vacations and corporate entertainment needs.

Legacy Quest Outdoors uses products that incorporate the use of reclaimed wood materials blended with metal and authentic natural products to create a lifestyle of warmth, authenticity and reverence for America’s heritage rich past. Surrounded by hardwoods, cattail ponds and the rolling hills of Kentucky, each customized cabin will be green certified to ensure living in harmony among the existing wildlife while maintaining a natural park like setting that delivers scenic backdrops.

Nestled among the wooded ridges and valleys of the resort property is Rockcastle Shooting Center, the nation’s premier shooting facility. The full service-shooting center includes a pro shop, 15-station sporting clay course, 5-stand, numerous pistol and rifle ranges and a 3-D archery course set against wooded backdrops. The nations top firearms instructors schedule regular training sessions at Rockcastle Shooting Center and a resident NSCA certified Shooting Sports Manager offers private and group lessons.

Residents of Cedar Pointe have access and onsite privileges to all of the resorts amenities, including The Lodge Pavilion, made from cedar and stone collected on the property, complete with an open outdoor fireplace, kitchen, bar and its own stage and dance area. Alternative dining choices for corporate events, sales meetings or conferences are available at the main lodge restaurant and the newly opened Cave Valley Winery. The winery and new vineyard bring a completely new dimension to the resort, featuring private wine tastings and wine themed parties.

Nick Noble, CEO of Rockcastle Shooting Center commented, “Creating Cedar Pointe with Legacy Quest Outdoors is the perfect match, blending the needs of our industry related clientele with those that share the tradition of the outdoors. Legacy Quest Outdoors is committed to building homesteads that are rustic in their appeal, while incorporating personal touches of the outdoor enthusiast so each home will truly be unique. We will be unveiling special introductory pricing for Cedar Pointe homes when we host the Shooting Industry Masters July 22nd and July 23rd. We’re confident, Cedar Pointe will become the ideal social setting that leisure living is all about.”

Zac Guy, Founder of Legacy Quest Outdoors added, “We’re hunters and outdoorsman ourselves, so partnering with a world class shooting destination resort like Rockcastle Shooting Center is an obvious win/win for everyone. We will be building world-class homesteads that I guarantee will have the WOW factor as a standard amenity. We are going to take care of your lifestyle afterhours and complete the Rockcastle Shooting Center experience by incorporating the outdoors in the indoors of your home.”

For more information on events scheduled at Rockcastle Shooting Center and Cedar Pointe visit our web site at <http://www.ParkMammothResort.us> or email guest services at info@parkmammothresort.us. Media members can contact Lisa G. Cinquino, Public Relations Director at cinquinol@aol.com or call (203) 881-8381.